Description

The first book in the acclaimed Ready-to-Read series from Newbery Medalist Cynthia Rylant featuring Henry and his lovable 180-pound dog, Mudge.

Henry, feeling lonely on a street without any other children, finds companionship and love in a big dog named Mudge.

Insightful reviews

Chantelle: My son and I both thoroughly enjoyed every book in this series and were excited to find out what would happen as we started each one. Because my son was between 5-6 years old (he's an advanced reader) at the time, he easily identified with Henry and loved Mudge because (1) he desperately wanted a dog, and (2) Mudge's goofiness was endearing AND hilarious.

Read Aloud: Pre-K and Kindergarten

Introduces plot, character development, foreshadowing, and use of imagery.

Independent Reading: First or Second grade (6-7 years old). More complex sentence structure than "Mr. Putter Series" and slightly longer paragraphs. Short chapters (with clever titles), character development, humor, and an easy to follow plot will encourage all children to read.

Underlying themes of friendship, thoughtfulness, and responsibility are seamlessly weaved throughout the book. Although this is a fairly simple children's book, I found myself laughing out loud at the many adventures of Henry and Mudge.

HIGHLY Recommend!!!

Kelly Beery: Enjoyed this book.

- Henry lives in a neighborhood with no other children, and he is an only child
- Henry asks for a dog and chooses Mudge
- Mudge grows from a puppy to a very, very large dog
- Henry no longer feels alone, until Mudge runs away and gets lost
- Henry searches for Mudge and once they find each other, they spend all of their time together, they make each other feel safe
- Good book for 1st to 3rd grade, depending on reading level
- good for children who enjoy dogs, only children secure and chuffed as they did every thing together. Then sooner or later Mudge took a stroll and obtained lost, making either Henry and Mudge very upset. ultimately the 2 locate one another and vow to by no means lose one and different again. This tale exhibits the affection for pets, the bond of friendship and love and companionship shared among them. the 1st booklet is an efficient introductory instrument for bankruptcy books because it comprises brief subsections. Question:- Why did Henry opt for Mudge for a dog?- What different tales have you ever learn with canine in them?- What did Mudge do for Henry?- What occurred whilst Mudge went for a walk?- What do you think that will happen?- Why does Mudge no longer are looking to stroll on my own anymore?- have you misplaced something? What did you do?
