Insightful reviews

Chelsea: Great cozy, again, from Elaine Viets. Some very important issues are presented about being a single parent, and there were times I actually laughed out loud as well; great sense of humor in her stories. Also, at the end of the book, she gives great shopping tips and some helpful websites as well. I highly recommend this series to all cozy mysteries lovers especially those of you who enjoy reading books without nasty curse words and raunchy sex scenes.

Erin: This was a breezy fast paced mystery that was hard to put down, but the culprit was obvious right away. Even though I liked this novel, I probably wouldn't bother to read the others in the series.

Doris: Interesting - a lot of stuff I never knew about mystery shopping. A lot of that knowledge was based on watching a friend do the shopping and letting her kids terrorize the store. I didn't think that was part of the deal but maybe it was.

Jasmin Butrlakorn: This used to be my first to learn during this sequence and that i wasn't specifically impressed. a few of the principles have been a bit too contrived for my taste. i will test another within the sequence to work out if this used to be simply an off choice...we'll see.

Linda: i actually take pleasure in this sequence and this used to be no exception. there have been a number of characters that i did not like and it kind of feels they might not be back. i am additionally looking ahead to what's going to ensue in Josie's own existence next.

Deneen: the easiest secret patron one of many sequence by way of far. Yes, I had it just a little found out via the end, however it used to be an honest learn and replied loads of questions (Josie's own life) the 1st 3 didn't. No spoilers here, yet an excellent read, in particular for the fourth booklet within the series. Elaine Viets will get greater and better, her lifeless finish task sequence and this secret consumer sequence have grown on me.
